CEES Service Learning – Reflective Prompt

Name: Jonathan Lewis

Date: 9/28/18

Course: Principles of Sustainability

Username: Lewijona@iu.edu

Use complete sentences and as much detail as you can for these answers. Your answers will be returned to you and your professor via email; you will likely find them useful with your course assignment associated with the project.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

What activity did you participate in today?

Tree survey.

What issue or problem was addressed in today's project?

Deforestation and tree growth.

What do you think is the root cause of – or contributes to – the environmental issue(s) addressed by today's project?

Urban sprawl and agriculture.

What was your role in today's project? What was accomplished in today's project?

I measured angles for tree height. @ Getting updates on tree growth.

What did you learn from your work and experience in today's project?

Trees make people happier and can help with hospital patients.

What would you like to learn more about, related to this project or issue?

How many more trees are on campus?

If you were in charge of the project, what would you do to improve it? Or, if you could do the project again, what would you do differently?

Nothing, It seemed good.

Use complete sentences and as much detail as you can for these answers. Your answers will be returned to you and your professor via email; you will likely find them useful with your course assignment associated with the project.

ESSAY QUESTIONS

ESSAY #1: How can you relate what you learned today to your course content/topic(s)?

We can use the data to find the volume of a tree and find out how much Carbon is stored. This can be used to determine how much total Carbon the Campus is storing and off-setting of total carbon released by the campus.

ESSAY #2: How might you apply what you learned today in your professional or personal life?

I can use this to find various Carbon storage of trees to perhaps benefit business. With that I can come up with a plan for the company to store the carbon they release As well as work with passive heating to reduce energy use.